DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

In view of the Appeal Brief filed on 10/27/08, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. A new ground of rejection is set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) initiate a new appeal by filing a notice of appeal under 37 CFR 41.31 followed by an appeal brief under 37 CFR 41.37. The previously paid notice of appeal fee and appeal brief fee can be applied to the new appeal. If, however, the appeal fees set forth in 37 CFR 41.20 have been increased since they were previously paid, then appellant must pay the difference between the increased fees and the amount previously paid.

A Supervisory Patent Examiner (SPE) has approved of reopening prosecution by signing below:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 27-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as not falling within one of the four statutory categories of invention. While the claims recite a series of steps or acts to be performed, a statutory "process" under 35 U.S.C. 101 must (1) be tied to another statutory category (such as a particular apparatus), or (2) transform underlying subject matter (such as an article or material) to a different state or thing (Reference the May 15, 2008 memorandum issued by Deputy Commissioner for Patent Examining Policy, John J. Love, titled "Clarification of 'Processes' under 35 U.S.C. 101"). The instant claims neither transform underlying subject matter nor positively tie to another statutory category that accomplishes the claimed method steps, and therefore do not qualify as a statutory process. The Applicant has provided no explicit and deliberate definitions of "monitoring" or "increasing" to limit the steps to the electronic form of the object tracking system.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 27-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Abe (5473369) in view of Yu (5434621).

Regarding claim 27, Abe discloses an apparatus that relates to moving object detection (Abe: column 1, lines 6-10). This apparatus comprises “monitoring a level of confidence that the tracking system is tracking a target” (Abe: column 10, lines 45-64, wherein the confidence level is the judgment performed by the equations indicating whether the object has disappeared (drop in confidence)) and “altering magnification of an image visible to the operator in response to a change in the level of confidence” (Abe: column 12, lines 5-13). While Abe discloses adjusting the zoom or magnification factor according to the results of the confidence value, Abe fails to explicitly disclose increasing the magnification in response to a decrease in the confidence level. Yu teaches that prior art camera systems require a user to manually operate a zoom switch (Yu: column 2, lines 20-27). To help alleviate this problem, Yu discloses “increasing the magnification when the confidence level decreases” (Yu: column 6, lines 36-43, wherein the increase in magnification is driving the zoom motor in the TELE direction. The confidence level is the comparison of the focus count which indicates the object is moving away or the confidence level is decreasing). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to take the apparatus disclosed by Abe and add the zoom processing taught by Yu in order to obtain an apparatus that can automatically zoom in/out on a tracked object.

Regarding claim 28, Yu discloses “the magnification is changed incrementally as the level of confidence decreases” (Yu: column 6, lines 36-43, wherein the incremental change is only varying the zoom by the amount equal to the variation detected).

Regarding claim 29, Abe in view of Yu disclose “the magnification is increased when the confidence level falls below a first threshold and decreased when the confidence level falls below a second threshold less than the first threshold” (Loveland: Abe: column 10, lines 50-65, wherein the equations indicate a comparison with two thresholds; Yu: figures 2-3; column 5, lines 45-57; column 6, lines 36-43).
